The revolutions against the Ancient Regime increase after the publication of the Communist Manifesto

COMMUNIST MANIFIESTO

After the publication of Communist Manifesto, the peasants have been more radical in the revolutions compared with other times. Two factories have been burned by the proletariat. Their life conditions are getting worse every time.

96 citizens and 42 policemen have been killed. The bourgeoisie is trying to stop the revolution.

One of the revolutionaries answered some questions for our interview:

-Why are you acting that way? +We are exploited by the proletariat. This is unfair. We want our children to go to school like normal bourgeois children and to live an ordinary life without any issues. They are too young to suffer the circumstances. And, looking forward, we hope that they don't go through the same situation that we are going through now. I have to work at the factory twenty-two hours a day. So, I can't spend much time with my family. Therefore we are looking for a solution of some kind.

-Are you scared of being attacked and finally murdered by a policeman?

+Actually I don't care because I think I'm almost dead already, not in the literal meaning, but I have a life that no one else would want to live. I'm always at the factory,

I even sleep there. You can't imagine how much I miss my son and wife. For instance, it's my son's birthday in two days so I hope to see him.

-What do you think could end this endless war?

+If we continue fighting for our rights, I think that we'll get some social improvements. Although the other part is better armed than we are, we are a big majority of angry people. It's said that union is strength. That's the best weapon to destroy Capitalism.
